A MEDINN INITIATIVE

PoH.

Connecting with 50 MVPs of healthcare & MedTech in Kerala.

A challenge I’m giving myself: connect with them, learn what they are building, and map the ecosystem.

DR. SIDHARTH NARAYANAN

THE ECOSYSTEM

Healthcare is much bigger than hospitals.

Yet we explore these worlds separately. How well do we know who is building what, right here?

Hospital groups
Medical device makers
Diagnostics
Healthcare founders
Biotech ventures
Technology developers
Clinicians building services
Distributors
Researchers
Investors
Institutional leaders
Clinicians

THE CHALLENGE

50 conversations with the people building Kerala's healthcare.

Founders, CEOs, key opinion leaders, hospital leaders, manufacturers, diagnostics leaders, researchers and investors.

WHAT I WANT TO UNDERSTAND

Five lenses on one ecosystem.

01	People	Who is shaping healthcare in Kerala, and what have they built?
02	Production	What can Kerala develop and manufacture locally? Where do we depend on others?
03	Talent	What skills exist, what is missing, and how do we build it?
04	Innovation	What does the road from a clinical problem to a product involve?
05	Pipelines	What funding, mentorship, partnerships and approvals does it take to execute?

WHY IT MATTERS FOR DOCTORS

Doctors can be builders too.

Clinicians are often seen only as end users. They can also be collaborators, product developers, researchers and advisors.

To take part, they need to know the industry, the people in it, and how ideas become healthcare products.

People of Healthcare exists to make that knowledge accessible to clinicians and medical students.
